LANDER CLAN CONVENES AT SALUBRIA

Reunion of The Descendants of
The First Immigrant,
William Lander.

THERE WERE SIXTY PRESENT.

Of the 183 Known Descendants About One-Third Were on Hand.

About sixty descendants of William Lander (1), who came to America 200 years ago, held a family reunion at Salubria Springs Wednesday, which was continued two days.

The Lander family is one of the oldest in Kentucky, William Lander (2) being one of the first pioneers.

The reunion was brought about by Rev. David Lander, Easley, S. C., who has gathered much genealogical information for a family history and from his valuable stores of family history this information is taken.

William Lander (1) was born in Saxony about 1675 and moved with his brother John to England and shortly thereafter came to America early in the 18th century. John settled in Massachusetts, while William journeyed southward and settled finally in Hampshire county, Virginia. He was a tailor by trade and lived to be 116 years old. He married in this country and had at least three children. A daughter married Levi Ashbrook, a Baptist minister; a son Charles, "went south" and was lost sight of, and Henry, who is the common ancestor of the Kentucky family. Henry was born not later than 1725 and married a Miss Skinner of Loudon county, Va. He reared six sons and one daughter. The sons were Charles, Jacob, Nathan, John, William and Henry and are known as the patriarchs. Charles was born in 1754 and served in the Revolutionary army, company six, third Virginia regiment, Col. Wm. Heth, commander. Henry and the six sons moved to Kentucky about 1783, all but William having married in Virginia. Charles married a Foreman, Jacob an Ashbrook, Nathan and John married twin sisters by the name of Skinner. Henry a Little, while William married Letitia Strode of Strode's Station in Clark county, Ky.

Charles and his father settled near North Middletown in Bourbon county, where they died. The father died at the age of 84, from being burned, while Charles died of cholera in 1833. He had three sons and four daughters. As far as known he has thirty living male representatives, the most of whom are living in Missouri and California. Charles served one term in the legislature from Bourbon county. His son John served in the war of 1812 and afterwards became the father of eighteen children. Two of his grandsons were in the Union army and one in the Confederate army during the Civil War. A great grandson, David, is a Presbyterian minister.

Jacob settled in Clark county and built the first grist mill in that section. He was famed as a man of unusual strength. His eldest son, Levi, taught school till he was an old man, dying in Mexico, Mo., in 1882. His son Henry reared a large and interesting family at Knoxville, Ill. Prominent among them was Hon. Harry Lander, who died at Brookfield, Mo., a few years ago. As far as known Jacob has but eighteen living male representatives. He moved from Clark to Breckinridge county and died at the age of 78.

Nathan settled first in Clark and later in Breckinridge. He outlived all his brothers, dying at the age of 94. His daughter Adah married Philip Lightfoot and reared a large family in Breckinridge, but only two of his male descendants survive, both of whom attended the reunion—Capt. Frank Lander of Hawesville and Tracy J. Lander of Vincennes, Ind.

Patriarch John was sheriff of Hampshire county before leaving Virginia. He settled close to Winchester and much of the land he owned is now within the city limits. He moved to Christian county in 1818 and bought a fine farm west of Hopkinsville. He was soon elected county commissioner, in which office he continued till death and was noted for his integrity in settling estates. He reared a large family. His daughter Addie married John Wilcox, a nephew of Daniel Boone. Two other daughters married Luckeys of Bourbon county and reared large families in Mexico, Mo. His son John served in the war of 1812 and became one of the wealthiest men in Christian county. He owned several thousand acres of land near Pembroke and his son James was in the Confederate army. Samuel, a son of Patriarch John, moved to Bloomington, Ill., in an early day, reared a large family and became quite wealthy. He was a member of the state constitutional convention. John D., one of his sons, was in the war with Mexico, and Charles W. was a federal soldier in the Civil War. So far as known John has twenty-three living male descendants.

The Patriarch William also settled in Clark and afterward moved to Christian county, where he bought 1300 acres of choice land near Bellevue, now Gracey. He was a great stock man and his horses and cattle took first premiums at many county fairs. He also reared the largest family of all and has sixty-seven living male descendants. His grandson, James A. of Yoakum, Texas, is perhaps the eldest and wealthiest of all the families. He also has a large family, among whom are several bankers.

Henry, son of William, served in the war of 1812 and two of his sons, Wyley and John, served in the Union army during the Civil War. Wyley became the father of nineteen children and was killed by the cars at Burgen, Ky.

Jas. H. and Stephen Lander, sons of William, were, for many years, among the most prominent citizens of Christian county.

Henry, the last of the patriarchs, was the last to move from Virginia. He settled first in Clark and afterward moved to Christian county and bought 327 acres of land on the town fork of Little river, a few miles out from Hopkinsville. He died suddenly in the prime of life, leaving a large family. Thomas, his eldest son, has numerous descendants near Pomeroy, Ohio, and Hartford, Cal. Three other sons moved to California, Isaac and Israel prospered, but Patterson became wealthy. Wilson married his cousin Pauline Lander. He died in 1879 from the kick of a horse and his widow has since been one of the best beloved women of Hopkinsville. Frank D. Lander, who became editor of the Nashville Tennessean after the murder of ex-Senator Carmack, is a grandson of Henry.

The meeting at Salubria was called to order in the grove about the hotel, by Rev. David Lander, a handsome, well preserved and unusually intelligent gentleman of middle age. After opening a register and introducing those strangers to each other, Mr. Lander read extracts from his proposed history, which was listened to with keenest interest until the noon hour. After a good dinner at the hotel, during which Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Petre personally looked after the service and saw that the big gathering was well fed, the reading was resumed and a group picture was taken by artist W. R. Bowles. The exercises of the first day were concluded at 4:30 o'clock.

The second day was spent with more attention to social features and the exchanging of bits of family history and information.

Those who attended were as follows:

David Lander, Easley S. C. Frank Lander, Hawesville, Ky., aged 82,

THE Administration of Estates!

There is no more sacred duty than that which devolves upon man, than the custody of money not his own. When, by reason of ill health or old age, men find it impossible to properly manage their valuable interests, and thereby to protect those whom they must leave behind them, it becomes necessary for them to seek another, who, representing them, can safely be entrusted with their property, and who will conscientiously inspect their wishes and anxieties.

INCOME TAX FAILS THIS YEAR

Only Thirty of Thirty-Five States Necessary Lined Up For Amendment.

NEW YORK SUPPORTS PLAN

Fifteen Legislatures' Defeat of Proposal or Failure to Act Bars Success.

New York.—Although New York by the action of the assembly at Albany swings into the list of states that have ratified the proposed federal income tax and brings the total up to thirty-one, tabulation shows that the necessary vote of thirty-five, or three-fourths the states, is out of the question this year. The New York assembly passed the income tax resolution, already passed by the senate, 91 to 42.

Fifteen states have either defeated the amendment in one or both houses, have adjourned without taking, or, having indorsed the measure in one branch, have gone into adjournment with the other branch unrecorded. This accounts collectively for all the forty-six states to date.

Eliminating Arkansas, whose governor has raised a nice constitutional question by vetoing the indorsement of the amendment by both branches of the state legislature, but thirty votes in favor of the proposal remain. Thus it is obvious that further progress must await the convening of new legislatures.

The fifteen states which have failed to indorse the amendment either through adverse action or by inactive adjournment are Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Utah, Rhode Island, Virginia, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Those which have indorsed the amendment are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New York, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin.

PIERCE--WEST.

Mr. Geo. R. Pierce Weds Mrs. M. L. West.

Mr. Geo. R. Pierce and Mrs. M. L. West, widow of the late Sidney West, were married at the bride's home Twelfth street, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Rev. C. M. Thompson officiating. The bride is a sister of Mr. Pierce's first wife. The groom is a prominent and highly esteemed citizen, who lives on a fine farm a few miles south of the city. He has several grown children, two of whom live in this city, Mrs. R. I. Stowe and Henry Pierce. After the wedding they drove to their home in the country.

Judge O'Rear Should Resign.

A Judge of the Court of Appeals campaigning the State as the nominee of a political party for the office of Governor is not a spectacle calculated to inspire respect for or confidence in the judiciary. The republican platform will outline the principles and measures to which Judge O'Rear will be committed. He will thus in advance prejudice a number of issues that may come before him on the bench after Senator McCreary has defeated him for Governor. He could not render an unprejudiced judgment. It is his duty, therefore to resign the office of Judge while running for Governor.—Cynthiana Democrat.

REJECTS CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Tax of $3,000 a Year Is Regarded as Excessive.

Owensboro, Ky., July 19.—City council virtually killed the city's chances of a $30,000 Carnegie library when a vote of 6 to 6 resulted on the question of the city pledging $3,000 a year to the support of the institution.

The councilmen by their action were in harmony with the citizens in general, who believe $3,000 a year too large an amount for the library.
Andrew Carnegie made the offer to the city four years ago. City council has voted on the question four times, the result being the same. Eight votes constitutes a majority in the council.

HIS NAME MOST APPROPRIATE

"Knapp" It Was and Drowsy Delegate Proceeded to Live Up to Cognomen.

During the morning prior to the opening of the national convention, a special meeting of those delegates already arrived was held to discuss and vote on some preliminary measures.
These met in a smaller hall, opposite the convention hall; and when they were all assembled in the stuffy room, one of the members leaned back wearily in his chair and promptly fell asleep.

After an hour's session, the chairman called a vote on a certain measure. All responded but the sleeper, whose snores now and then echoed through the room.

"Here! wake that man up!" demanded the chairman, at this point.
"What's his name, anyway?"

No one being able to tell, and no one following the chairman's order to wake the sleeper up, that functionary at once called upon a hall clerk to carry out the order. So accordingly the clerk hurried down the aisle to the dozer, shook him vigorously by the arm, asking him his name the while.

With a broken snore tha' perforated the atmosphere, the sleeper awoke.
"What's his name?" again called out the impatient chairman.

At this, the clerk straightened up from the unknown member's chair, and announced, to the accompaniment of a roar of laughter.

"Mr. chairman, he says his name is Knapp."—Judge's Library.

STEEL SPECKS IN THE FLOUR

Man of Science Announces Gravely
That This Is One of the Causes of Appendicitis.

Dr. Edred M. Conner of London, alleges that appendicitis is due to white flour. Steel from the mill rollers gets into the flour. We eat this minute steel and as it goes round the head it shunts off on the blind siding. In time it stacks up like a culm heap and irritation ensues.

A good part of the steel is absorbed, to be sure. That explains why it is not found in any of the cases operated on. But the point is, no doubt, that more than the 10-penny nail of iron allowed to each mortal is taken in and the body's magnetic equilibrium is thereby upset. The man who invented graham bread died of indigestion, but if he had drawn a magnet through it before baking he would have removed the steel particles and might have lived forever.

The wise cook today will buy a small magnet and thoroughly stir her flour with it before putting in the water and yeast. Let her wipe off the magnet every little while. The black specks that adhere are tiny bits of steel. Bread made in this way may be eaten without fear of appendicitis.

Soft-Toned Bells of China.

The natives of China use large bells of their own make in many of their temples and monasteries, writes the United States consul at Foochow. I have noticed all through Japan and China that the tone of the monastery and temple bells is very soft and smooth, due to the superior quality of the material used in their manufacture and to the absence of iron clappers, the result being a marvelous softness and mellowness of tone. The bells are never swung, being always suspended in a fixed frame, and the sound is produced by striking them on the outer edge with a wooden mallet.
This makes the soft tones which are so delightfully melodious.

Surely Queen of All Hens.

A certain industrious hen, interested in the welfare of Petaluma, Cal., has gone so far in her efforts to spread the renown of the city of eggs and broilers that she recently placed four yolks in one shell. Her zealous-ness was discovered by a firm of egg merchants, Whitcomb & Baker. The egg was slightly larger than normal.
It looked like a regular egg until a candle gave an X-ray view of four small yolks. A hunt is still being made to locate the hen. In the same shipment were a number of other eggs containing two yolks, but the egg with the four yolks is said to break all records.

Radium Breezes for Gout.

Radium laden breezes are the very latest thing in the treatment of gout.
One of the papers read at the German Medical congress was on the application of radium in the aerial state.
Radium "emanatoria" have been established in Berlin and at Bad Homburg, and now Ems is to have one. A special apparatus in which radium is placed in a current of air is fixed in a room and all the patients have to do is to sit in the room and talk or read newspapers, or play draughts; the radium in solution in the air does the rest and affects the blood through the lungs. This treatment is especially recommended for all gouty ailments.

Question Too Personal.

"I had a mighty queer surprise this morning," remarked a local stock broker. "I put on my last year's suit and in one of the trousers' pocket I found a big roll of bills which I had entirely forgotten."

"Were any of them receipted?" asked a listener who seemed to be a peevish.

And the temperature dropped immediately to a point where everybody felt comfortable.

DISSERTATION ON THE SHIRT

Writer Uncorks Vials of Wrath in a Few Indictments of Uncomfortable Modern Garment.

The onward march of civilization has its obstacles.

Shirts being made for man and not man for shirts, every time a man gets a new shirt or one comes back from the laundry the moral uplift needs the application of the safety brake and the emergency clutch to keep us from dropping into the cellar again.

Shirts are made of various kinds of materials. After the sewing is finished they are left for a few hours in a strong mixture of glue and concrete. This fastens the back to the bosom and sticks the sleeves together. Buttonholes are then made in the bosom, and the hand is then steeped in cement so that the buttonholes cannot be opened. The bosom is then adorned with buttons. These buttons are sewed on with one weak thread, so that when you try to button the shirt, after having pried it apart with a paper knife and strong language, the buttons will fly away merrily.

Shirts that are laundered are always sent back with the lower button buttoned in, and all the buttonholes glued tight.

Dress shirts are made with veneered bosoms, with little round holes where the studs are only supposed to be placed. These bosoms are absolutely inflexible, and the studs cannot be inserted without the aid of a sledge hammer, which is damaging to the disposition.

The man who will invent a button-less shirt, which cannot be starched in the neckband, will earn a monument which will be illuminated at night.—Chicago Evening Post.

AND READY TO FIGHT AGAIN

Cat Refused to Be a Party to Proceedings by Which She Officially Died.

Jerry the pet cat of the Stolz family of Bloomfield, N. J., considerably startled its mistress when, the other afternoon, it appeared at the kitchen door after having been buried as dead during the course of the preceding forenoon. Jerry is of a warlike disposition, and during a recent combat, sustained such injuries that the family decided to put him out of misery. Accordingly the garbage man was pre-valled on to place the pet animal in an old tin holler, pour in chloroform and put on the lid. In a few minutes Jerry was "dead." He was buried and the Stolz children covered the grave of their friend and playmate with flowers. But life to Jerry was sweet, so when Mrs. Stolz opened the kitchen door later, she found him waiting for admittance. Mrs. Stolz screamed and ran, but her husband let the cat in, and declared he would not permit the warrior to be "killed" again.

Ancient Painters.

Among the Greeks the most famous painters were Cimon of Cleona, Poly-grotus, Zeuxis, Apellas, Appollodorus and Parrhasius. Of these the greatest were Zeuxis, who is said to have laughed himself to death over the picture of an old woman that he had painted, and Apelles, who, according to some accounts, painted cherries so perfectly that the birds pecked at them, thinking them real. Apelles was a contemporary of Alexander the Great, and was commanded by the conqueror of the world to paint his picture. His greatest work was "Venus Rising From the Sea," painted for the Temple of Esculapius, at Cos, and costing, it is said, over $100,000.
It is claimed that no artist was able to complete his unfinished pictures, many of which he left at the time of his death.

Up-to-Date Street Beggars.

"Even your street heggars are up to date here in New York," said an observing out-of-town man as he tossed a nickel into the hat of a professional beggar wearing a badge "Victim of the Recent Fire." "I've never known it to fail," he continued, "that after a fire, an explosion or any other big accident there was a noticeable change in the appeals made by your street beggars. Another thing, note his shrewdness, as he doesn't specify any particular fire, but simply the recent fire. The desire to keep ahead of the times seems to be deep seated in all New Yorkers, and just after some great accident the street heggars are sure to make the most of the situation and make their appeal to the public along the latest lines."

What He Wanted.

It was after the explosion, and Henderson sat on a rail fence gazing rue-fully over the scene of ruin. One of his wheels was still rolling onward over the pile. Another hung from the limb of a tree. Other sections of the car were strewn about the highway, far and near.

"Ah me!" sighed Henderson. "To think that only last night I was inveighing against an assembled car!
By Jove! I'd give $100 to anybody who'd come along at this very minute and assemble mine."—Harper's Weekly.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from a pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector, J. Pierpont Morgan, tried to acquire the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs.
It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

PAID PENALTY OF RASHNESS

Snake Charmer Finally Killed by Reptile Which She Had Made Her Particular Pet.

Miss X—, a snake charmer well known among show people, firmly believed that one of her snakes was really fond of her. She could do anything with it—fondle it, kiss and caress it. She grew so fond of it that at last she even let it sleep on her bed, to the great disgust of the other performers in the show. She would eat her meals with this horrible thing coiled around her neck; and once, in very warm weather, she took it under her coat into the woods with her, and let it amuse itself by crawling over the ground. She followed it about and kept a most careful watch over it (it was a valuable performer), but it showed no disposition to go off into the woods, as she feared it might, but came back to her and coiled around her as usual. She was warned several times that the reptile was very dangerous, but she grew more and more reckless, and the snake appeared to become more and more attached to her.

And then, one day, without any warning, directly after a performance, when she was caressing it in her own room, the snake suddenly threw back its head, looked at her steadily, and with lightning-like swiftness struck her between the eyes, leaving two tiny punctures. She hastily unclosed it and thrust it into its box, but she died within half an hour.—McClure's Magazine.

SACRED MOUNT OF ARARAT

People of Vicinity for Many Years Considered Its Heights Impossible to Scale.

"Ararat is not a mountain that is climbed every day, or even every year," says a writer. "Seventeen ascents have been recorded. When James Bryce, unaccompanied, made his remarkable ascent in 1876 he was told by every one whom he met in the vicinity of the mountain that the top had never been reached, and what was more, it never could be. Jinn and fiends and giants had prevented the rascally Kurds from even attempting to scale the terrible mountain, and since the ark grounded there mortal man had not been allowed to trespass on the sacred heights, he was informed.

"Had not St. Hagop tried again and again to reach the summit in order to silence the skeptics about the ark, but found himself each morning on waking quietly deposited at the base, whence he started? Finally an angel presented him with a piece of the ark for his pains, but told him to cease his attempts to reach the forbidden ground.

"That was in the fourth century of our era, but the piece of the ark is to be seen at the monastery of the Echmedzin, where dwells the catholicos of the Armenian church. That Russians or a stray lone Englishman had really reached the top of Ararat was not to be thought of."

Foretold in a Dream.

A fatal accident that was foretold in a dream was described yesterday at an inquest at Old Hill, near Birmingham, on the body of a miner named Benjamin Westwood, who was killed at the Fly Colliery.

His brother William said that on Tuesday night he had a dream, and in it he saw his brother killed. He added: "I did not go to work on Wednesday morning, for my dream made me so ill that I was unable to do any work since.

"In my dream I saw a considerable quantity of coal fall from the roof on to my brother, knock him down and kill him, and from what those who witnessed the accident have told me, my dream was fulfilled. I did not go to my brother's house to warn him, as I was too ill to leave home."—London Chronicle.

100,000 Beggars in Gotham.

One hundred thousand heggars, of whom 8,000 are professionals, infest New York city, the world's richest city, at present, according to Charles K. Blatchly, superintendent of the Joint Application Bureau of the Charity Organization society. This means that vagrancy is more widespread in New York than ever before, presenting a situation that is viewed with considerable apprehension. James Forbes, secretary of the National Association for the Prevention of Mendicancy, estimates that the 8,000 professional beggars easily average $5 a day. The 90,000 others probably average $1 a day, so that the metropolis pays a daily vagrancy toll in money alone of close to $150,000.

Lifting the Jonah.

"Jim, how much do I owe you? Twenty-three dollars, isn't it?" "Yes." "And for how long?" "Over two years." "Yes. Well, I begin to believe that $23 is an unlucky number to owe a man." "Good!" "So here's a dollar—that cuts it to twenty-two, doesn't it? Goodbye."

He Got It.

Lady—Yes, I've an umbrella that needs mending, but how am I to know that you will bring it back? Umbrella Mender—Have no fear, mum. I allow, charges more for mending than I could sell the umbrella for.

FLY KITES ON FEAST DAY

Japanese Perform Clever Maneuvers in the Air With Their Monstrous Rival Flyers.

In Japan there is an annual feast day for boys, when each house having male children hangs out strings of paper carp, which inflated by the breeze become lifelike monster fish.

"It was on this feast day," says a writer in the Wide World, "that we left Yokohama for Kamakura, once the eastern capital of Japan, now merely a quiet little seaside village.

"As it was such an important occasion, the whole world made holiday, some families hurried to the seashore to fly their enormous humming kites, from which the parents appeared to derive quite as much enjoyment as the children. The loud hum emitted by the soaring kite is caused by a piece of thin bamboo, which is stretched tightly across from shoulder to shoulder.

"This taut bamboo filament not only acts as an aerial harp but beats the whole kite, so that its surface is concave instead of being, as in our kites, a plane. The noise when some three-score or so of these monsters are in the air at the same time is deafening.

"The Japanese kite has no tail, but is furnished with numerous long streamers. Great competitions are held by the owners of the kites, and occasionally a mimic battle will be fought in the air, the rival factions endeavoring by means of powdered glass, which has been previously worked into a definite length of the kite strings, to saw through a rival's string, and so bring the vanquished kite tumbling ignominiously to the ground."

UNCLE CAL GOOD REASONER

Fired Question at Camp Fire Astronomer That Probably Was Hard to Answer.

"The late George Cary Eggleston was in the Confederate army," said a New York editor, "and, as Memorial day approached, he would narrate at the Authors' club many a memory of war times.

"I liked to hear his yarns about the child-like minds of slaves. He once told me, for example, about a grizzled slave named Uncle Cal, body servant to his colonel.

"As Eggleston sat before a camp fire one coolish autumn evening, watching Uncle Cal mend the colonel's coat, the crimson and gold glory of the autumn sunset turned the talk to astronomy, and Eggleston said:

"You see, Uncle Cal, the world is round, like an apple, and it goes round, too—round and round it goes all the time."

"Hit's round an' hit goes round," said Uncle Cal, skeptically. "But what I want to know is, what holds it up?"

"Why, you see, Uncle Cal," said Eggleston, "the world goes round the sun, and the sun holds it up—by attraction, you know."

"Uncle Cal glanced from his coat mending to Eggleston with a patronizing smile.

"Honey," he said, "Ah reckon yo' hain't gone far 'nough in yo' reasonin'. Fo', if yo' surmisation wuz correct, what would keep de world up when the sun went down? Answer me dat, hon!"

Mistook Snake for Whip.

George Deady, a farm hand living in Wilsonville, had a hot time on Friday and he fainted dead away from fright, says a Putnam correspondent of the Hartford Courant. Deady picked up what he thought was the tip of a horse whip in the grass beside the road, only to find that the horse whip was alive. It proved to be a black snake. It wound around Deady's arm and poked its head in Deady's face and grinned at him.

Deady let out a yell that could be heard all over Wilsonville and ran to Henry Pearl and implored him to pull the snake off his arm. Pearl refused to meddle, saying he was no snake charmer, whereupon Deady fainted in the road. Pearl says the snake then uncoiled, and wiggled off into the bushes. It was about five feet long.

At the Celestial Gate.

The druggist approached the Celestial gate. St. Peter opened the portal for him and bade him enter and join the heavenly choir.

"Not so fast," admonished the compounder of pills. "Before I go in there I want to ask a few questions. Have you any city directories in Paradise?"

"No," replied St. Peter. "Any remedies for growing hair on bald heads and door knobs?"

"None."

"Any soda fountains?"

"We don't know what they are."

"Do you sell stamps?"

"We don't use them here."

"And last, but not least, have you any telephones?"

"We have not."

"Then I'll go in, for I guess this is Heaven all right, all right."—Louisville Post.

WANT TO LEARN TO MILK?

One Way in Which City People Prepare for Their Vacations in the Country.

In the vacation literature that is distributed daily in one section of the upper west side, is a leaflet which urges every reader to prepare for country pleasures by learning to milk a cow, says the New York Times.

Then follows the address of a cow that is willing to furnish practice for the neophyte. She is an amiable-looking animal tethered in a roomy stable.

"Want to learn to milk?" asks the cow's owner.

The visitor doesn't; she just wants to find out if anybody else does.

"Sure!" says the owner. "Lots of 'em! Get my milking done for nothing nowadays. Somebody comes to practice three times a day. They'd come oftener if I'd let 'em. You see, one of the first things the real city folk do when they get into the country for a week or two is to tackle a cow and a milk pail. This is accomplished surrounded by spectators. The farmer's family, anyhow, looks on, and maybe several city folks.

"There are unlimited ways in which a fellow can make a fool of himself, but he can achieve absolute idiocy easiest by milking a cow for the first time. Contrarywise, nothing gives a man's reputation for coolheadedness such a boost as to come through the ordeal creditably. Apparently a lot of New Yorkers have decided to make a name for themselves by milking a cow without being kicked over, for I have just rented another cow to accommodate all the people who want to learn."

"The senator smiled.

"However," he continued, "the king evidently disapproves of morganatic unions as strongly as the political supporters of Adams disapproved of a royal marriage for their candidate."

"A western supporter of Adams complained to a friend that somebody had been telling the voters that Adams had married a daughter of George III., an untruth which, he averred, would lose Adams every vote in the west."

"It that is the case," said his friends, "why not contradict the yarn at once?"

"Oh," replied the partisan, "that would not be of the slightest use; you don't know these westerners. They are pig-headed. They will believe anything and unbelieve nothing. No—we must not contradict this wicked lie; we must allow that Adams did marry a daughter of George III., but we must swear that Jackson, his opponent, married two of George III.'s daughters!"

Man That Looked Like Tom Reed.

I remember meeting the late Frederick P. Vinton downtown one day some years ago. Our talk was interrupted by his pausing to regard very intently the figure of a passerby of almost herculean size. He said in his quiet way: "There is the man I have been looking for—and I don't know him! I wish I did. You see it is like this: I have an order from the State of Maine to paint a full length life size portrait of the late Speaker Thomas B. Reed, whom I never saw. Now the man who has just passed has Reed's figure almost identically, as I gather from some very good photographs given me. If I could only get this man, or some one like him, to give me a few sittings for the figure it would help out. But I have got to do the best I can." And he did; he always did.—From a letter in the Boston Transcript.

Toothpick Industry Threatened.

Maine's great toothpick industry is threatened. It is reported that the bottom has dropped out of the market, and that manufacturing in the new concrete mill of the International Manufacturing company will be curtailed. Within a few weeks the little mouth crows have been worth $38 a case at wholesale, and today they are quoted at $8, which is less than the cost to manufacture. The poplar stock now on hand will be made into matches. To sum up, there is evidently a glut in the market, but nobody seems to know how it occurred. With one mill at Strong and two at Dixfield, all within a radius of 30 miles, three-fourths of the wooden toothpick industry of the world is represented.—Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

Big Salmon on French Coast.

A huge salmon, a fish rarely met with in the Atlantic, has been captured by fishermen off Concarneau, France, and towed to that port. The fish measures eight meters long and four meters in circumference and weighs four tons.

The fishermen are greatly disturbed over the presence in the vicinity of the fish's female companion, who followed her captured lord throughout the whole of the night he was being towed to port.

MONEY WEARS OUT QUICKLY

Enormous Wastage Through Circulation on British Gold and Silver Coins.

It is the duty of each loyal subject of the British crown not merely to refuse gold coin that is under a certain weight but to break it.

"Every person," the act reads, "shall, by himself or others, cut, break or deface such coin tendered to him in payment and the person tendering the same shall bear the loss."

But in spite of this act it is a risky business interfering with coins which you may suspect to be under weight of spurious. Some months ago a Grimsby woman offered a half sovereign in payment of goods to a local shopkeeper. The latter put the coin in a testing machine, and as it broke in two, refused to take it.

The coin, however, was pronounced by experts to be perfectly genuine, and when the case was taken into a court of law the shopkeeper was ordered to refund ten shillings to the customer.

Money, both gold and silver, wears out at a startling rate. It is reckoned that there is usually a hundred million pounds in gold coin in England, a very large proportion of which is locked in the strong rooms of banks. Yet of that which is in active circulation the wastage is so great that during every twelve months seventy thousand pounds worth of gold and silver are runned off into fine dust.

PHOTOGRAPHY NOT NEW ART

For Centuries Idea Has Been Understood But Only Recently Has It Been Perfected.

The first sunlight photograph of a human face was obtained in 1839 by Prof. John William Draper of New York university by the daguerreotype process. The centenary of Draper's birth has just been celebrated.

As long ago as the year 990 A. D. a Greek princess, Eudoxia Makremphosa, observed and recorded what is supposed to have been the first photochemical reaction. Fabricius in 1556 discovered the darkening of silver chloride when exposed to light, and in 1727 J. H. Schulze, a German philologist, utilized the discovery for copying.

The method was, of course, crude. Some years thereafter J. A. C. Charles prepared in France single shadow photographs, and Thomas Wedgwood made a camera and sought to take photographs on silver nitrate paper. They were not successful.

In 1816 Niepce invented a heliographic process. Daguerre became his partner in 1839 and together they perfected the process. Professor Draper carried the work forward and astonished the world with his photographic reproductions of the human face. Since that time photography has developed year by year, passing through the snapshot stage and on to motion pictures.

Women Police for German Cities.

Berlin and Dusseldorf have decided to employ women police officers, and the capital city has already engaged a staff of 30. But their duties are strictly circumscribed. They are to concern themselves only with offenses against children, especially of the baby-farming variety, and in order that they may be properly equipped for the task they are empowered to break into any house where they believe that children are being ill treated. This drastic action is the result of several unpleasant scandals which the authorities are determined to check, but it would be interesting to know how these women police will proceed to break their way into a house that is barred and bolted against them. To invoke the brute strength of the male creature would be humiliating.

The conductor sighed and looked at her gently and sadly. "I won't have to tell you, lady," he said. "I won't have to tell you, 'cause you'll ask me every time we come to a transfer station if that's where you get off."—Exchange.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

RELIGIOUS RESORT

Methodists Trying To Buy Seebree Springs And Stop Dancing.

Rev. E. M. Vance, of the Methodist church, is heading a movement to take over Seebree Springs with the idea that church people need this sort of a place. First for camp meetings and conventions, and, second, as a home for the worn out ministers of the Methodist faith. It will take $20,000 to buy the hotel and grounds. $4,000 of this amount has already been subscribed, although Rev. Vance has hardly started to work. He has an option on the place until September 1st.

If Rev. Vance's plans are successful it does not mean that the hotel at Seebree Springs will be closed to health and pleasure seekers, but it does mean that some of the amusements now in vogue will have to be changed—principally dancing, which would be a thing of the past under religious control.

The charge is making the rounds that Hopkinsville is going to assist Clarksville to win the second pennant but it is believed there is nothing in it. The rumor started from the trade of Zimmerman for Cooper. Both the Clarksville and Hopkinsville managements would like to see Clarksville take the second half as a series between the two teams would draw better than any other but Hopkinsville is too anxious for the final series to give Clarksville any players.—Vincennes Capital.

Young Luther later stole the girl away from her home and they were married again. Recently Luther deserted his wife and is now in the regular army.

Every Month Near Death. Foster, Ark.—Mrs. Fannie Ellis, of Foster, says: "I was sick for seven years, and half the time could not stand on my feet. Every month, I was very near death. I tried Cardui, and in two months, I was cured, and am now stout and healthy. My friends all ask me now what cured me. My looks are a testimonial to Cardui." No matter how serious or long-standing the trouble, Cardui will help you. It is a mild, vegetable, tonic remedy, especially adapted to relieve and cure the common womanly ailments. It relieves womanly pains and restores womanly strength. Try Cardui.

ANOTHER VICTIM CLAIMED. Seventh Death From Cholera at New York.

New York, July 20.—Another death from Asiatic cholera occurred at the Swinburne Island hospital station of the New York quarantine station today. The victim was Kusehhe Pettinichia, 32 years old, who arrived here on the steamer Molthe.

Notwithstanding this additional death, making the count seven at this port, Health Officer Alvah H. Doty issued a statement tonight, in which he said the situation was satisfactory. No further cases of the disease have developed among the detained immigrants and the one suspicious case which was discovered this morning proved not to be cholera.

She Was Smothering. Rockford, Ala.—Mrs. M. C. Paschal, of this place says: "I was taken with nervous prostration, and had headache, backache, pains in right side, and smothering spells. I called in physicians to treat my case, but without relief. Finally, I tried Cardui, and it gave perfect satisfaction. I recommend it to every sick woman." Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? Cardui has a record of over fifty years in relieving such troubles, and will certainly benefit you. It prevents those frequent headaches, and keeps you up, out of bed, feeling fresh and happy. Try Cardui.

Lucian Johnson, the little son of Mr. J. C. Johnson, who was injured in an accident here last Saturday while driving, died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning in an Evansville sanitarium, where he underwent an operation Monday.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect the aching back, Urinary troubles surely follow. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache.

Relieve other kidney ills. Hopkinsville citizens endorse them. Mrs. Francis Brown, 204 Fourth St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "There is no doubt about Doan's Kidney Pills living up to the claim made for them and you are at liberty to use my name as one who recommends them highly. I was annoyed for years by backache which came on by spells especially severe when I contracted a cold. About four years ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at L. A. Johnson's Pharmacy, and I was not disappointed with the results of their use. After taking a dose or two I knew that the remedy was acting directly on my kidneys and in a short time my troubles ceased. During the past four years I have used Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when having similar attacks and they have given me prompt relief. We think a great deal of Doan's Kidney Pills and always keep them in the house."

Down on Jews. Mayor E. S. Helburn, of Middleboro, who, in compliance with the express wish of Judge O'Rear was defeated for the Republican nomination for the Lieutenant Governorship, is a citizen of Jewish birth, who by ability, has made a conspicuous place for himself in the affections and confidence of the people of the Eleventh district. As his defeat followed the announcement to the convention that if nominated, he would give his whole-hearted support to every plank in the Republican platform, it is to be assured that some other reason than Judge O'Rear's belief in the efficacy of prohibition as a political nostrum, was the cause of the Helburn sacrifice.—Louisville Times.

Kentucky Rock Asphalt. Several months ago, General T. Coleman du Pont, who is building the mammoth highway through Delaware as a present to his people promised Col. M. H. Crump, of this city, that he would make a thorough test of rock asphalt of this section on his model road. Correspondence has passed between the two gentlemen, and it is altogether likely that an engineer representing Gen. du Pont will visit this section shortly with a view to making a personal inspection of this wonderful road-building product.

Clarksville Merchant Files Suit Here Against Company.

Sam Levey, of Clarksville, filed suit here Thursday against the Tennessee Central railroad company for $1,999.99 damages. Plaintiff alleges that on July 4 he purchased a round trip ticket from Clarksville to Hopkinsville and that the conductor refused to honor the return part of the ticket, forcibly ejecting him from the train at a point about two miles South of this city and that he had to walk back here. He further states that he is a merchant and had the key to his store in his pocket and that his wife and son were forced to stay in the store all night and guard same, being unable to lock up the house.

ON THE ROAD TO RECOVERY

Sure Sign That Miss Amanda Lowry Was Going to Get Better.

There were certain traits which distinguished Miss Amanda Lowry from most of her neighbors, and although not all of them were admirable traits, they were Miss Amanda's, and therefore accepted lovingly by her friends.

When she was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia, the village was in great distress.

"I went in to see her just a minute," said a tearful friend, "and she scarcely looked at me. I don't think she really sensed I was there. But yet they say she's a mite better, if she can only get some strength into her. The fever's gone, but she lacks interest, she's so weak."

A few days later, still tearful, but joyous, the same friend made a more encouraging report.

"She looked at me, Amanda did, where I sat, way across the room, and then she beckoned to me. 'You go take a look at yourself in the glass,' she said, 'and tell me if you've got your brooch on straight. It looks canted to the left, to me.'

"And 'twas!" said the neighbor, wiping her eyes. "She could hardly speak above a whisper, but when I'd straightened it, she said, 'That's all right,' and turned over and went to sleep. She's going to get well!"—Youth's Companion.

STRENGTH OF THE NEW-BORN

Muscles of the Forearm Especially Seem to Be Powerful, Says a London Periodical.

The myth of the infant Hercules, who strangled two serpents in his cradle, may not have been a myth at all, but a fact, says the London Telegraph. Modern science has proved that it is quite a possible feat. The new-born babe is relatively much stronger than a full-grown man, according to the result of medical tests: "The muscles of the forearm are surprisingly vigorous. A few hours after birth a baby suspended by its finger to a stick, or to the finger of a person, can hold itself in the air for ten seconds, and, in the case of particularly strong infants, for as long as half a minute. At four days old the child's strength has increased, and the time is two and a half minutes for 98 per cent. of babies. The maximum is attained at a fortnight. Few infants can hang on for more than one and a half minutes, though one exceptional young Hercules remained suspended for two minutes and 38 seconds by his right hand. After that he still hung on with his left for 15 seconds longer." It is not stated whose babies were put through these horizontal bar gymnastics at the early age of from one hour to a fortnight.

GADDIS OF THE HIMALAYAS

Tribe of Nomad Shepherds Whose Very Origin is Matter of Conjecture.

Far away in the central Himalayas lives a tribe of nomad shepherds whose very origin is a matter of conjecture. They are known as Gaddis, and are as distinctly separate from the other tribes of these mountains as are the Almos from the Japanese. They were once dwellers in the plains, but at some remote period were driven to the hills, and they are now confined to the western Himalayas, where there are extensive grazing grounds. Here they are partly tillers of the soil, as well as shepherds, for their women-folk, who do not accompany the flocks, work in the fields, and some of the men also remain in the villages to assist them.

They are fine hardy men, these Gaddis, and their women are sometimes beautiful. They scorn the use of tents or shelters of any kind, and provided only with a blanket of goat's hair, which they make themselves, and which is practically waterproof, one and all of them remain for months together, at altitudes varying from 13,000 to 17,000 feet, exposed to snow, wind and rain, without any ill effect to their health. It must be remembered, however, that they are trained to it, for the boys, at a very early age, are made to accompany their fathers in their wanderings.—Wide World.

Occupation for Women.
Two women, maybe more, occupy novel positions in the business world in New York. These women are employed by a number of wholesale dress goods and millinery houses to entertain women buyers from out of town. They entertain the visitors at dinner. In the theater, and make the sojourners' stay in New York pleasant. The expense, of course, is charged to the houses employing them. The individual charges of these women entertainers usually are about one-fourth of the total expense.

LOOK HERE!

What Madisonville Has Gone And Done.

Madisonville, Ky., July 21—Six months ago this place did not support a single automobile. Since the holidays several agencies have located here, and as a result the streets are crowded with machines.
About thirty have been purchased within three months. At the last meeting of the city council an order was made to buy a machine for the fire department. Mayor Gatlin and R. L. Harned, fire chief, selected one, which will be here this week.
It will carry six chemical engines and five men.

O'Rear's Dish of Crow.

Before his nomination, Judge O'Rear, as the conferee of Dr.
Amos, as the most outspokenly adverse critic of the means used by Gov. Wilson in his effort to repress lawlessness, as the avowed sympathizer with the cause and the official apologist for the acts of the night riders, was, with seemingly abundant reason, looked upon as their friend at court.

After nomination, the same Judge O'Rear has given his full sanction to a platform, the second plank of which declares that:

"We approve and indorse the Republican administration of the affairs of the State and we approve and indorse all means employed by that administration for the preservation of the order and favor the passage of such additional laws as may be necessary for that purpose."

That Wonderful Oil Pull Engine.

Two months ago Dr. J. A. B. Word, of Oak Grove, took the bit in his teeth and bought a Rumley Outfit, consisting of an Oil Pull Engine and a full threshing outfit and a gang plow with ten plows, with a cut of 14 inches each. He threshed his wheat without a hobble with 30 gallons of oil per day costing $1.50. Now he is fallowing thirty acres of land per day with this rig, burning 50 gallons of oil each day costing $3.50.

He has a harrow hooked on behind his gang, and leaves the ground in a fine condition. It took nerve to pay the price, but the man with nerve is the man who eventually wins out. It is the best investment the Doctor ever made.

Mules and Feed are Getting Higher Each Year.

A farmer is too wise to feed every thing he raises to mules to raise it with. It costs $120.00 to own and feed a mule every year. Labor is getting scarcer, less dependable and more costly all the time. Be wise. The wheat kings of Christian County can't afford to fallow their 300 and 1,000 acres with mules.

We can get you a rig here within five days. Let us put you right.

It costs in corn and hay $10.00 to fallow 30 acres with mules and $15.00 for hands and feeding equaling $25.00. With an Oil Pull and Gang it costs $3.50 for feed and $3.50 for labor, equaling $7.00. You cannot afford to lose that $18.00.

LOSES A CRIB.

Containing His Supply of 40
Barrels of Corn.

A crib containing forty barrels of corn belonging to Mr. J. W. Stamps, of the Bluff Springs neighborhood, was destroyed by fire Thursday night. It is not known how the fire originated. Mr. Stamps, after feeding his stock about night, locked the crib door and returned to his house.
He was not smoking when in the crib and there were no shucks in the building. His loss is about $250.

This is the second loss Mr. Stamps has sustained by fire within the past few years. About three years ago his wagon, loaded with tobacco, was burned, presumably by night riders.

Mr Stamps was a witness for the defense in the Van Hoeser case recently tried at Owensboro.

PEMBROKE NEGRO

Accused of Theft by Another Negro in Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., July 20.—Although Charles Laubshire, employed at the water works pumping station declared he recognized William Major, colored of Pembroke, Ky., as the man who robbed him while he slept Sunday morning at the station, Major told Special Judge McCoy in city court that he could prove that he was down town when Laubshire's pocket was picked. He asked for a continuance of his hearing until he could complete the alibi. Laubshire claims $1.10 and a bottle of whiskey was sneaked away by the negro.
He was awakened by the robber who was caught in the act.

THE MAGAZINES

One of the most interesting things in the August Woman's Home Companion is an article which reports the girlhood of Mary Garden, the famous grand opera singer. The article is one of a series just beginning which is to treat of the girlhood of a number of prima donnas.
The present article contains a thrilling account of Miss Garden's first great public appearance in Paris.
It was a sudden call into an important part, and the young woman made herself famous in a night.
"How I Sold My Daughters," is the title of an extraordinary piece of self-revelation by a mother.
"Art in America" is an interesting illustrated series by George Alfred Williams. "What a Man Expects of a Girl" and Margaret E. Sangster's talk on youth and old age are notable features.

Leroy Scott contributes a clever satirical novelette to the August number of the smart set. The title is Mrs. De Payster's Idea," and the story tells of the pitiful straits to which one of the leading figures in New York's Four Hundred is reduced through the curtailment of her income due to a period of financial depression.

The American Magazine for August.

The American Magazine for August is a fresh, vigorous blend of real stories and of keen, straightforward from the shoulder articles. "Mother," by Kathleen Norris, is one of the great stories of the year, telling with sympathy and charm how a woman's happiness deepens with the number of her children; and the great joy of bringing life into the world. Edna Ferber attains new power as a story-teller, in a humorous tale of a "lady" drummer; Philip Curtiss writes a vivid, exciting polo story; and Virginia Tracy contributes an unusual story of the stage. There is other fiction by Frances Hodgson Burnett, Harris
Merton Lyon and Dion Calthrop.

from six months to five years, and cle yesterday and watched his disciples toss $27,500 into it as a "sacri-

Tom Morrow's Vacation.

Thos. L. Morrow, the popular and time he will have, but it is too bad that he will have to miss the ball
